GLORIOUS VICTORY WON BY HAIG OVER HINDENBURG. British Take 8000 Huns and Many Villages in Lightning Stroke.

NEW ALLIED METHODS IN BATTLE OF CAMBRAI.

Novels.
Lessons Learned in Flanders Applied for First Time, with the Result that Germans are Routed.

BY FRANK H. SIMONDS.
Author of "The World War" and "The World Not Lost."
[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

For the last three months we have been seeing in Flanders a struggle outwardly resembling the battle of the Somme, yet revealing on close examination marked differences. On the Somme the Germans endeavored to defend a fixed line of elaborate intrenchments. The British artillery demonstrated during the course of the battle that not only could the elaborate defenses be destroyed, but the losses of the defender might be very much greater than that of the assailant, since his troops could be caught before they could get out of their dugouts.

RECENTLY.

The battle of the Somme, therefore, effectively destroyed the first German method of defense on the western front. Hindenburg then had recourse to the so-called "elastic defense," which consisted in holding a deep front with few troops scattered in shell craters, in small concrete works ("pill-boxes") and covered by an enormous extent of barbed-wire entanglements. Such a system of defense could not be easily abolished by barrage fire of heavy explosives, and while an attack was still struggling through this area the Germans were able to prepare a counter-attack. During the early part of the Flanders campaign the British struggled not wholly successfully, with this new system of defense.

NEW METHOD.

But in recent weeks the British have evidently evolved a new method of attack and we have seen them surmounting the Paschendale ridge and pushing forward into the enemy's territory.

GERMANS ARE FIGHTING IN LAST LINE DEFENSE.

British Troops and Wonderful Tanks Pressing Forward Despite Rain and Storm of Shells.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]
BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Nov. 21.—Thousands of British cavalry today were co-operating with the great army of tanks and infantry in continuing the successful assault begun yesterday by the British troops against the Hindenburg defenses over a wide front in the Cambrai sector.

Open fighting has been going on at many places since yesterday, and the horse troops, who long have waited for a chance to vindicate their existence in this war, were rendering invaluable services in "mopping up" the enemy territory.

Bitter fighting occurred at many places, but the British forces, with the help of their tanks, have been steadily pushing forward. The Hindenburg line of trenches was penetrated today at a distance of some five miles, were still pushing forward today. The number of prisoners taken thus far by the British is given at about 8000 in a Reuter dispatch filed today at British headquarters.

Despite the continuance of the storm on the British battle front, the British troops and tanks were still pushing forward today, Reuter's correspondent at headquarters reports.

"It has been raining hard since yesterday and it is raining still, but somewhere beyond the veil of the storm our troops and tanks are still pushing forward," the correspondent wires. "We get reports of them even on the Maroing-Mamieres line and of patrols penetrating in the direction of Noyelles. (Noyelles is three and one-half miles from Cambrai.)"

"The heavy blow dealt the Germans has driven a wide wedge through the Hindenburg line, in which there is every evidence of the Germans feeling or surrendering without making a serious attempt to hold the defenses, which were of enormous strength."

HAIG'S COMMENTARY ON THE GREAT DRIVE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]
LONDON, Nov. 21.—The report from Field Marshal Haig's headquarters tonight on the British drive in the Cambrai sector reads:

"Important progress was again made today west and southwest of Cambrai, though rain has fallen continually."

"Reinforcements which the enemy hurried up to the battle field to oppose our advance have been driven out by the further series of villages and other fortified positions, and many additional prisoners have been taken. The tanks have again given great assistance to the advance."

"In our right we made progress in the direction of Crevecoeur sur L'Escaut. Northeast of Mamieres we captured the enemy's double line of trenches on the east bank of the Scheldt canal. Sharp fighting occurred in this neighborhood, and hostile counter-attacks were driven off."

"North of Maroing the village of Noyelles sur l'Escaut was captured early in the morning. Heavy fighting occurred and the hostile counter-attacks were successfully repulsed."

"During the morning Scottish troops moving northeast from Fiesquiers captured the German defensive lines southwest of Cantal and the village itself, together with 500 prisoners. Later in the day they continued their advance and established themselves in positions more than seven miles behind the German front line."

"North of Anneux West Riding battalions have been engaged with the enemy south and southwest of Bourloup wood. Further west Ulster regiments crossed the Bapaume-Cambrai road and entered Meuvres."

"During the day hostile counter-attacks against our new positions in the neighborhood of Bullecourt have been defeated. The number of prisoners who have passed through our collecting stations exceeds 8000, including 180 officers. The number of guns captured has not yet been ascertained."

BATTLE IS PROCEEDING. IS THE BERLIN REPORT.

BRITISH ARE ATTACKING WITH STRONG FORCES, TEXT OF
OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]
BERLIN (via London) Nov. 21.—The German official western-front statement reads:

"Southwest of Cambrai the British since noon have attacked with strong forces. The fighting is proceeding."

"This afternoon strong French advances commenced on the front from Craonne to Bery-au-Bac."

"There is no news from Italy."

HUGE SURPRISE ATTACK ROUTS GERMAN FORCES.

Teutons, Dazed and Thunderstricken by Onslaught Unheralded by Barrage, Fall Back in Panic.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
LONDON, Nov. 21.—Andrew Bonar Law announced this evening in the House of Commons that 8000 prisoners, including 180 officers, have been taken by the British in their present operations. At one point the British penetrated five miles behind the German lines and several villages in addition to those already announced have been taken.

BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Nov. 21.—The advance of the British army against the Germans was continuing this afternoon. The towns of Mamieres, Maroing, Ribecourt, Havrincourt, Graincourt and Fiesquiers all were behind the British advancing line and the cavalry, which is co-operating with the tanks and rendering invaluable service, was drawing in toward the Bourlon wood, west of Cambrai.

BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Tuesday, Nov. 20.—The redoubtable Hindenburg line in the Cambrai sector was broken in many places today by the great force of the British tanks, and this afternoon the infantry which followed through the gaps are still battling their way forward.

The surprise attack was launched at dawn over a wide front. In the first few hours its progress was marked with evident success and up to the latest reports received at this time (4 p.m.) had been moving along regularly according to schedule.

The resistance offered by the dazed Germans this morning was negligible and by noon British pioneers already were at work laying roads across the old front-line trenches while prisoners in considerable numbers had begun to come back from various directions. The casualties of the attacking force thus far have been light. Great numbers of German dead lie before the main Hindenburg line, and the bewildered enemy, taken unawares, made a half-hearted attempt to stem the onrushing British.

The battle was an innovation for the western front, for it was begun without any preliminary artillery work. Upon the army tanks rested the responsibility for victory or defeat and they fulfilled all expectations. The front tanks went through the tremendous line of barbed wire entanglements in front of the main Hindenburg positions and on over the trenches as though they were on parade.

TANKS LEAD ATTACK.
The tanks started forward at 4:30 a.m. and by 11:15 the British infantry, which had swarmed into the holes made by the mighty engines, was engaging the enemy in open battle along the whole front. The support line back of the main defenses at many points. Up to noon today there had been hard fighting and the German artillery fire had been very weak.

The Germans surrendered freely in numerous places and several hundred were brought in during the first few hours of fighting.

Two attempted counter-attacks were smashed by the British infantry in the early hours, one in a tunnel trench near Bullecourt, the other at Havrincourt Park, where one of the British tanks was captured.

NERVOUSNESS.
This morning before daybreak there were moving along at word the same pace. The Germans had evinced some nervousness during the attack and for a few minutes at 5:30 a.m. in the morning, dropped

BREAK HINDENBURG LINE TO DEPTH OF FIVE MILES.

British Forces Storm Teuton Line from St. Quentin to Scarpe River.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]
LONDON, Nov. 21.—The Hindenburg line has been broken to a depth of four to five miles, the War Office announced. The British troops stormed the first system of the Hindenburg line defenses on the whole front between St. Quentin and the Scarpe River.

The British infantry and tanks pressed on and captured the second system of defenses, over a mile beyond. From St. Quentin to the Scarpe is thirty-two miles.

The attack was begun yesterday by the Third Army. There was no artillery preparation and the Germans were taken completely by surprise.

The second system of German defenses captured by the British is known as the Hindenburg support line. The British captured Benaville, Lameux wood, La Vaquezie, the defenses known as Welsh Ridge and Ribecourt village. Their operations are continuing. Several thousand prisoners have been taken.

The British also fought their way through Couillet wood.

Lieut.-Gen. Sir Julian Byng is in command of the attacking army. A large number of tanks moved forward in advance of the infantry when the attack was opened, and broke through successive belts of German wire defenses, which were of great depth and strength.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.
The announcement follows: "Yesterday morning the Third Army, under command of Gen. the Honorable Sir Julian Byng, delivered a number of attacks between St. Quentin and the Scarpe River. These attacks were carried out without previous artillery preparation and in each case the enemy was completely surprised."

"Our troops have broken into the enemy's positions to a depth of between four and five miles on a wide front and have captured several thousand prisoners with a number of guns. Our operations are continuing."

"At the hour of assault on the principal front of attack a large number of tanks moved forward in advance of the infantry and broke through successive belts of German wire which were of great depth and strength."

forward steadily toward Roulers. Now, when we come to the new operation before Cambrai, it is apparent that the British have suddenly applied on a sector long quiet all the lessons they have learned in Flanders, and that they have been able to bring off a very successful surprise attack.

SECOND POSSIBILITY.
There remains the second possibility. Is it an effort to seize territory of immediate value comparable with the Vimy Ridge, with hill No. 76, with the Fleschende Ridge, about Ypres?

THIRD.
There is a third possibility. The Italian campaign has become one of such great importance that the Allies could give in the way of drawing off German troops, which might otherwise be sent to the Venetian front, would have a real value for the Italians.

LARGEST GAIN.
Now, it is quite clear from the first information we have that this attack before Cambrai has resulted in the largest gain of ground—that is, in the most considerable German retreat—in the whole period of trench warfare. When the British speak of an advance to a depth of four or five miles on a wide front, they give a measure which has not been surpassed on the western front, although something approximating this was achieved in the great push out from the Somme on Easter Monday of this year.

Camouflage
That which distracts the attention of customers from "Prices."
There are various kinds, for instance:
Camouflage of Credit
It's a screen that veils the necessary higher price of the credit business. Stores that buy on credit must pay for the privilege of keeping manufacturers and producers waiting. Stores that sell on credit must pay for additional bookkeeping and clerical expense and the interest on outstanding accounts. The customer bears the cost of this so-called service, as well as the losses taken on charge accounts which are never paid.
Camouflage Premiums, Trading Stamps, etc.
Employed by some stores where the merchandise and prices themselves are not sufficiently attractive to bring the people to the store.
Camouflage of Discounts.
Rebates and better prices to a favored few, which smacks of the olden days, when such methods were the rule rather than the exception.
Camouflage of Expensive Location.
Where high rents must be included in the price of the merchandise.
Camouflage of Extravagant Fixtures.
Built to bait the eye and the purse of the unthinking shopper who looks not on the picture but the frame.

TO FEDERALIZE OUR RAILWAYS
Appeal Made to Interstate Commerce Commission.
Flotation of Bonds Opposed by Traffic Head.
Working Basis Suggested by Corporation's Counsel.
RAILROAD RECORD.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—In a brief submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission today in the 15 per cent. advance freight rate case, Clifford Thorne, leading counsel for the shippers, suggests that the government take over the operation of the railroads for the duration of the war.
Mr. Thorne pointed to the fact that the rate increase would act only as a punitive and would not settle the railroads' trouble, and to the statement of Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, that he did not believe the roads should attempt large bond flotations when the government was putting out loans.
After asking that if the government can buy several hundred million dollars worth of cars and engines for France and Russia, "why can't she buy some cars and engines for American railroads," Mr. Thorne said: "If our government takes over the operation of the railroads for the period of the war and guarantees the dividends that were paid during the pre-war period, we should be entitled to the profits over and above those dividends, for we will be substituting a government bond in effect, for a railroad stock. In surplus this would mean an earning of approximately $100,000,000 annually in official classification territory alone."

SAN DIEGO ROAD SOUGHT BY ESPEE.
PROJECT WOULD PROVIDE A FEEDER TO INTERVAL VALLEY LINE.
Determined to secure a foothold in San Diego, the Southern Pacific, through the San Diego and Arizona Railway Company, of which it is joint owner with the Spreckels interests, yesterday asked permission of President Thelen of the State Railroad Commission, at a hearing here, to purchase the San Diego and Southeastern Railway.
It was made plain at the hearing that the Santa Fe has expressed an intention of paralleling the San Diego and Southeastern line, which runs from San Diego to Lakeside in the mountains. The Spreckels interests informed the commission that they are not in a position to meet the competition of the Santa Fe, and they urged that permission be granted the San Diego and Arizona company to issue $1,500,000 bonds to buy the stock of the San Diego and Southeastern company, or to purchase the properties outright.
The authorized capital of the San Diego and Arizona is $4,000,000, with $2,000,000 outstanding and $2,000,000 bonds. No bonds have been issued, but the Southern Pacific and Spreckels interests have advanced for construction more than $1,000,000. The Southern Pacific Company's open account with the San Diego and Arizona being $4,446,179, and the Spreckels account $3,698,021.
Both of these interests were represented before President Thelen yesterday. The Southern Pacific by Paul Shepp, its vice-president, and president of the Pacific Electric, and Francis Karr, its attorney, while John D. Spreckels and W. Clayton appeared for the San Diego and Arizona company. W. C. Finkhauser, head expert of the commission, assisted at the hearing.
WHY SOCIETY WOMEN WASH THEIR OWN HAIR
They do, not because it is a fad, but because they wish to obtain the greatest possible hair beauty and be sure they are not using anything harmful. They have found that in washing the hair it is never wise to use a makeshift but is always advisable to use a preparation made for shampooing only. Many of our friends say they get the best results from a simple home-made cantharox mixture. You can use this at a cost of about three cents a shampoo by getting some cantharox from your druggist, and dissolving a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes enough shampoo liquid to apply to all the hair instead of just the top of the head, as with most preparations. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear in the rinsing water. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you.

NOT TO DESTROY VAST STOCKS OF FOOD FOR ARMY-FRUSTATED.

Device Set Off in a Vital Spot of Hauser Packing Plant and Fire Alarm Wires Cut—Believed a Part of Big Destruction Conspiracy.

It was a plot which, if successful, would have destroyed a valuable stock of food for the army, a large part of which was stored in the Hauser packing plant, it was believed a part of a big destruction conspiracy.

The fire alarm system of the plant was tested on Monday afternoon and found to be in perfect working order, according to the fire department.

The whole thing is an absolute plot, I have notified Washington and the fire department, according to the proper channels," he said.

CLEVER FIRE TRAP.

The trap was set on the third floor of the refinery building, less than two feet from an alleyway, and directly underneath the oil tanks, it consisted of a metal bucket, filled with kerosene and saturated with oil, tucked away under tons of hydrocarbon vegetable oil in sacks, with a narrow space left to act as a chimney. The bucket was a mass of flames with the nearest sacks already on fire, when the men rushed in and beat it out with empty sacks.

The nature of the evidence obtained by them, together with the facts that the packing company, the first in the United States to announce it would not sell meat products on meatless day, is rushed with army and navy contracts, led the police to announce they are working on the theory that the fire was set off by a pro-German plot. A number of threats have reached the ears of the company's officials.

PART OF BIG PLOT.

Detectives Glenn and Stevens, first of the Central Station men to investigate the fire, and other members of the department, together with Federal officers to be called into the case, will have other bits of concrete evidence to connect the fire with a definite plot to destroy the food products of the country, it was stated at the Central Station last night.

The police, working in co-operation with the Federal officials, have several suspects under surveillance and arrests may be made within a few hours.

The detectives assigned to the case, and the ten officers detailed by Lieut. Adams of the Central Station to watch the plant, spent much time last night in an effort to establish how many men were in the plot.

NO STRANGER.

That no stranger could have selected the spot and the time, nor known where the factory wires joined the fire alarm system of the city fire department, was the statement made by Mr. Hansen.

"We have six watchmen stationed at the various gates to the plant, so no one can enter without being observed—unless elaborate preparations to get in were made. The time selected, being a half an hour after the employees leave their rooms, and other things connected with the fire, make me certain of a plot," he said.

The refinery building adjoins the five-story storage building, where hundreds of thousands of dollars of meat and products are stored. The third floor of the refinery building is approximately the center of the plant, and due to its construction and the material in it, would ignite the entire collection of buildings in a short time, Mr. Hansen declared.

In addition to the thousands of gallons of oil and last night the building there are three oil tanks containing forty-five carloads of oil directly under the windows of the refinery department.

The storage department, filled with dressed beefs, the freezing-rooms, with thousands of boxes of hams and bacon almost ready for use, and the dozens of vital departments of the plant, all adjoin the refinery building.

"In the event of the fire spreading out and destroying the plant, our loss would probably be three or four times as great as the amount of stock on hand," Mr. Hansen said.

"The million-dollar estimate I just made of the loss would cover only the meat products actually in the plant tonight. The value of the plant, together with the potential value of the plant's output, capacity and equipment, will run far over that figure.

"Our government contracts are for the navy at the present time. We have just closed a large order for Camp Kearny, and now are in touch with the government on another large contract. We also supply the army and navy units stationed at the harbor. Just what the value of the government contracts would amount to I cannot say at the present time."

TO FORESTALL SEX APPEAL.

Jury of Women may Try Mrs. Howe for Murder.

Slayer of Brooks Hopes to be Acquitted by Men.

"Emotional Insanity" Defense is Forehadowed.

Mrs. Arlene Howe, wife of W. C. Howe of Buenos Aires, Oakland society woman, who shot and instantly killed Will H. Brooks, wealthy orange grower and prominent Los Angeles lodge and business man, will be the first woman charged with murder to face a Tulare county jury.

Her trial may be unprecedented in many other respects. Not only will she face an array of famous counsel, who will be associated with Dist. Atty. Lamberson in the prosecution of her case, but members of her own sex may aid in her defense and pass on her guilt or innocence.

Mrs. Howe told Deputy Sheriff Bob Pool that her sister is a well-known attorney of the East, and that she probably will be asked to come here and act as associate counsel with Attorney Frank McGowan of San Francisco, who is already at work on Mrs. Howe's defense. She will give no further particulars.

A portion of the jury which will be drawn to try Mrs. Howe on the charge of murder brought against her by the coroner's jury yesterday may be made up of women. Dist. Atty. Lamberson says frankly that Mrs. Howe's brief statements to him following the shooting contained the implication that she expects to be acquitted by a jury of men through sex appeal and sympathy. He may decide to forestall this appeal by having at least a portion of the special venire from which the jury will be called made up of women.

The determined effort is to be made to convict Mrs. Howe is indicated by the statement that means will be placed at the disposal of Dist. Atty. Lamberson to secure the best criminal lawyers of the State to aid in her prosecution.

Final arrangements for the trial are being made, and the case has been completed, but a part will be taken in the ceremonies by Shriners, Masons and Elks of this city.

Attorney McGowan, who has disavowed the case only very guardedly, gave indications that sudden and ground work of Mrs. Howe's defense. He says he is convinced that she was suffering from mental aberration on the day of the shooting, adding that he had known Mrs. Howe for years; that she is a woman of exemplary character, and as such, a woman of the highest social standing, and that she had never shown the least disposition toward violence.

Evidence to substantiate this theory of mental disturbance, already being sought, and there are guests at the Hotel Porterville, where Mrs. Howe is being held, who say that on the day of the murder she acted strangely. A day or two prior to the tragedy, it is also stated by these friends, she had been completely estranged and asked them if Mr. Brooks had been making slanderous remarks to them about her.

Dist. Atty. Lamberson declared yesterday that Mrs. Howe has told three distinct and widely varying stories as to the circumstances which led up to the shooting, the essential feature of them, he says, having been discovered in evidence which is already in the hands of the attorneys for the State.

FOREBODING DEATH.

Mrs. Howe maintains the point and self-control which characterized her attitude immediately following the shooting. She is as particular with her toilet as she was when she was a young girl, and she is lodged in her handsome apartments at the Porterville, rather than in a rooming house, as the coroner's jury has yet to exhibit to the jury the slightest degree of agitation. She still declares without emotion that she was not in any way connected with the shooting, and that she was not in any way connected with the shooting.

"I would rather face the electric chair than submit to a trial," she has declared, over and over.

Mrs. Anna Brooks, the young widow of the slain man, who lapsed into a state of semi-comatose mental collapse after she was told of the tragedy, remains under care of the hospital, and is improving slowly and her recovery is now anticipated.

ANTelope VALLEY PLANS APPROVED.

VISIT OF SUPERVISORS AND GRAND JURY MEMBERS ENCOURAGING.

The visit of members of the grand jury, accompanied by members of the Board of Supervisors, to Antelope Valley this morning was an important one. It is declared, as it virtually gave the stamp of approval to the big work the citizens of the valley have been doing. One of the results of the visit was a decision to condemn the present jail building and erect a new structure on a more suitable location.

The first road improvement planned will be the highway from Los Angeles to Redmond, a distance of fourteen miles. The expense of this and other highway work will be borne by the Antelope Valley residents. The Redmond road construction will begin next week.

Roads covering sixty miles in all will be constructed. These will connect all parts of the valley with the distant canyon highway. The work on these roads will not begin until next year, on account of the necessity to get certain rights-of-ways.

The grand jury found the Antelope Valley residents in earnest about opening up that fertile district and putting it in close touch with the more populous portions of the county and with the city.

SISTERS TO WED KEARNY MEN IN DUAL CEREMONY.

Getting Married is Chief Holiday Sport at Southland Camps

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

CAMP KEARNY, Nov. 21.—This was a wedding day for some of the boys. It being liberty afternoon, thousands of them went to town, meaning San Diego. Many of these took advantage of the great opportunity presented to get tied up and gladly posed their heads into the holy altar of matrimony.

There is one strong whiff of matrimony in the air. A delicate and delicate of consubstantial bliss could be seen patronizing the jewelry stores, purchasing rings with which to adorn the fair young milks of the brides and investing in other high-priced junk. The sacred institution of marriage is a great thing for the struggling jewelry business. It causes the wheels of industry to revolve in all the jewelry stores.

Some of the brides were from Southern California points, while others traveled great distances. A young lady in love will hurdle mountains and swim swollen streams in order to reach the side of her hero, figuratively speaking. There is nothing figurative about the high cost of riding on the train, but even that barrier does not repulse the brides.

Twelve couples, or grand total of twenty-four people, today received marriage licenses from Miss Clara Ellerman, clerk of the county, and who dealt wedding certificates from the right elbow. Two of the couples have planned a sort of four-in-hand wedding, involving two sisters, providing an ambidextrous minister can be found. They are Miss Clara Ellerman, of San Diego, and Vivian Amos Rehring of Santa Ana, and Miss Wanda Althea Pentland and Almon Orrin Thresher of Los Angeles. Licenses were also issued to Gustav T. Mandella of Riverside and Mandana E. Kianey of Los Angeles, and Earl Kearns Bothwell and Ethel Scott, both of Los Angeles.

Of course, there were many of the soldiers who did not hike down the aisle to hymeneal headquarters. Those without the price of a license compromised by getting their shoes polished, or turned to the simple, elemental things of life, such as eating soup with a spoon. One can eat soup cheaper than two. If soup ever was in price until it is placed within the reach of all, the wedding bells will peal forth more frequently. That is another figure of speech. I haven't heard a bell of any kind peal forth since arriving in San Diego. Everything down here seems to be run on wheels. Sometimes I wonder if the churches have things in their "air-fair," as they call it, that is, a delicate and delicate of consubstantial bliss could be seen patronizing the jewelry stores, purchasing rings with which to adorn the fair young milks of the brides and investing in other high-priced junk. The sacred institution of marriage is a great thing for the struggling jewelry business. It causes the wheels of industry to revolve in all the jewelry stores.

ELKS TO UNVEIL BIGGEST STATUE AT MYSTIC HOUR.

THE symbolic work of the Elks lodge, 11 o'clock, will be put to practical use when, with impressive services, the largest Elks statue in the United States will be unveiled at that hour on the night of December 2 by the Los Angeles lodge, No. 99, B.P.O.E., at its burial plot in Inglewood Cemetery.

This, it is said, will be the first time that service of this kind has been held at this hour. The statue, to the tolling of a Japanese bell brought to this country by Tracy T. Hall and presented to the lodge, Past Exalted Ruler Michael F. Shannon will give a solemn toast to the absent brother, followed by prayer.

Following this is scheduled the ceremony of scattering flowers in connection with the ritual given by Past Exalted Ruler Leo V. Youngworth, John F. Howard, Milton K. Young and M. T. McGarry.

From beneath the folds of a beautiful silk flag will appear the splendid statue of the bronze Elks, which stands thirty feet high, from the ground to the tip of the antler. The base is a square, seven feet high, surmounted by a huge rock of natural formation on which the Elks lodge, No. 99, B.P.O.E., is seated. Throughout the programme will be heard continuous strains of music from the distance and solo by Earl House, the blind bard, who will be an address by Judge McCormick, selections by the Elks' Quartet, and a drill by the White Squadron.

The theme of the ritual revolves around the various stations of the lodge and brings to the attention of the departed Elks, flowers symbolic of various virtues. For the Elks, the lodge is a place of refuge, the loyal knight, justice, and the esteemed lecturing knight, brotherly love.

December 2 is observed as Memorial Day by the Elks, and Oliver Morosco has donated the use of the Majestic Theater for special service. The public is invited to attend the 11 o'clock service.

LIQUOR MEN WILL TRY TO ANNUL ELECTION.

Projected Attack, Based on Technicality in Wording of Ballot, not Feared by Victors.

DESPITE the fact that proposition No. 1, known as the Gander Anti-Saloon League ordinance, was adopted by a majority of 20,174 votes, preliminary steps were taken by the saloon interests yesterday to have the election annulled. They asserted it will be attacked upon several grounds, the most important of which is the allegation that No. 1 and No. 4 were identical, and while No. 1 carried by a large majority, No. 4 was defeated by a much larger one.

The procedure contemplated by the liquor interests is to secure an injunction against the enforcement of proposition No. 1, which provides for the closing of saloons on April 1, 1918, but before this step is taken they plan to attack the validity of the election. This may be done at once.

The only difference between the two propositions is that No. 1 refers to "distilled" alcoholic liquors, while No. 4 reads "strong" alcoholic liquors. In every other respect, even to commas and hyphens, the two propositions appeared the same upon the ballot.

Attorney Paul Schenck discovered the technicality early yesterday, and in the afternoon held a conference with officials of the United California Industries, the leading liquor organization of the city.

"There are at least four points upon which the election may be attacked," said Attorney Schenck. "I am not at liberty to discuss them, but have no hesitancy in referring to the similarity of the two propositions. I am satisfied that if the matter was taken before a Solomon, he could not distinguish between the two measures. The voter is not supposed to have read the ordinances. All he depends upon is the proposition before him in the voting booth."

Proposition No. 1 was carried by a majority of 20,174, and No. 4 was defeated by 49,195 votes. How can a judge determine the wishes of the people under such circumstances? It is apparent that the two propositions are identical that if a voter votes affirmatively upon one and negatively upon the other, that his votes are void. In other words, he has killed his own vote.

Following is the wording of proposition No. 1:

"Shall the ordinance proposed by initiative petition prohibiting saloons, and prohibiting the sale of distilled alcoholic liquors, and regulating the sale and service of wine and malt alcoholic liquors, within the city of Los Angeles, be adopted?"

In proposition No. 4 the adjective "strong" is used instead of the adjective "distilled."

Dr. D. M. Gander, State superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, last night said he was not surprised at the projected contest of the election. "It does not worry me in the least," he said. "It has been my experience that we are fought in the last ditch by the saloon element, but almost without variation they have lost in their court battles. I am confident that the court will not continue the proceedings in accordance with the contentions of the saloon people."

To MAKE HARBOR DRY.

movement was started yesterday to induce the Council to immediately adopt an emergency ordinance to make the harbor district bone dry. Those behind it stated that if the people had known that a majority were in favor of making the harbor dry at the harbor, and the proposed action should be taken as a measure. It was stated that a majority of the members of the Council favor the action, and the ordinance may be presented to the Council today.

Councilman Oliver said movement officials had conferred with him upon the question, and requested him to use his influence to have the ordinance adopted at once.

The City Attorney made the statement yesterday that while the "green" initiative petition, if found to contain a sufficient number of signatures, will compel the Council to place it upon the ballot at the first city election it will not force an election. But one initiative election can be called every six months, but in the event an election is held, appeal or otherwise, petitioners having a 5 per cent. petition may force their issue upon the ballot.

The Council yesterday afternoon began the canvass of the election results. This work will probably be concluded today.

OFFICIAL COUNT.

She until his patience wore thin. At last a young officer approached. "Good evening, colonel," he said, politely. "Colonel he damned!" snorted the general. "Don't you read the morning papers?"

The Knuyet-Mande wedding was the most elegant of last Sunday. You know young Capt. Knuyet, the Australian who made such vivid speeches here a couple of months ago, likewise discovered a pretty and charming little Australian girl in Los Angeles, whom he promptly fell head over heels in love with and proposed to on the spot. She said she thought she ought to wait until the end of the war and let him proceed on his lecture tour, with hope but no promise. Last week she wrote him a bitter, donx in which she intimated that if he happened to be here she might relent. So the impetuous young man hid himself on the next train for California, cancelling all his government lecture engagements. He arrived at the University Club on Monday.

run at the Morocco Saturday night. With Sunday's matinee the Morocco will offer for the first time in the West probably the most celebrated play of the century, "Romance," a beautiful comedy-drama from Edward Sheldon. "This play is unique in the fact that it is the only play on record that has played for more than two years at the highest of ambition and enthusiastic performance. "Romance" is now in its third year at the Duke of York theatre in London, with Doris Keane in the leading role.

Paris is dark, but not forever. I asked Anna Held what she thought of the arrival of American soldiers in Europe. She replied: "Europe is filled with dying races from the East. The victor has departed because of the centuries of intermarrying among families, and the American people sturdy, full of ambition and enthusiastic. Perhaps the means of breeding a new race in Europe."

"Hereafter the intermarriage of Americans and Europeans, especially with the English and French, will have many women who wish to have put the sword in the scabbard without intention, and Maggie Teyta sings with a childish glee the words of the old German philosopher's intimation was not lost upon her."

It is perhaps because the stories of most operas require impossible emotions of the singers that most of the operas are so melodramatic. But Faust is an eternal story, that is, the temptation part of it is eternal and should be well understood by any capable actress. Maggie Teyta, however, puts into the part preposterously with the maid and the feather duster (all stage maids be so unapologetic. Their very office is replete with worldly knowledge and savoir faire.

They finished up with a dance afterward and Mrs. Margaret Ham captured the best waltzer in the room—and kept him. And as it was a British affair, a buoyant British recruiting officer appeared on the scene to perpetrate a little business, and all the young men became fearfully agile at dodging.

And, talking of amateur players, THE Amateur Players, directed by Alfred Allen with ferocious professionalism, will give a production at the Gaiety Club on December 1. There are to be three plays—"Suppressed Desires," Shaw's "Pygmalion" and "Good." Of course, Shaw's play is the piece de resistance replete with much earnestness on war, religion, human ideals, society and mothers, and just coming upon the Irish and the English alternately. John R. Valley has been selected for the leading role, which his friends declare will suit him to a "T" because it is full of pleasantly insulting remarks. It is a part with miles of conversational philosophy which Mr. Valley is awaiting of the season.

For years, Alan Dale has withstood the temptation to write a play.
He has declared, indeed, on numerhe finally decided that he couldn't under its influence wrote a play, or whether he just needed the money will probably never be known. At Anita Baldwin has been appointed western field missionary for the American Red Star, according to word received from the national headquarters by the local officials yesterday. Miss Baldwin will travel over the States of Oregon, Washington, California and Arizona in promoting the interests of the society that cares for wounded animals on the battlefield.

 Gen. Robert Wankowski will direct the Mack Bennett campaign, "Are You a Red Star?" with Louise Fazenda in the title role, and the companion feature, Belle Bennett in "The Girl on the Boat." Both are winning staunch approval at the Bennett Theater this week and creating no end of laughs.
 A triple feature bill is announced for next week, beginning Sunday. Manager Holland has secured some wonderful films showing our soldiers and sailors on land and sea. It is an offering of compelling and timely interest.
 Second, there will be those capital performers, Alma Ruben and Walt Whitman, in "The Regeneration." It is an intensely human story.

BRITISH VICTORY CHASES GLOOM FROM WALL STREET

Haig's Great Smash Ends Long Period of Widespread Depression.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Stocks were more susceptible to favorable influences today than at any time since the widespread depression engendered by the Russian victory on the western front and significant developments in the domestic industrial situation offset further pessimistic advice from Petrograd and another slump in Italian exchange.

Leaders rose 3 to 6 points after an early period of irregularity, caused in part by Pennsylvania's decline to the new maximum of 46. Gains were irregular, but not materially impaired by uptaking and short selling toward the close.

United States Steel asserted its long-established leadership, taking the foremost position in the advance from its low quotations of 85 1/2, in the first hour to 94 1/2, but reacted to 92, a net gain of the smaller fraction.

Other industrials and equipments, copper, shipping and war specialties displayed greater firmness through yielding from large fractions to a point. Industrial Alcohol made an extreme advance of 4 1/2 points and a few speculative issues held most of the 2 to 5-point gains.

The rebound in rails carried Delaware and Hudson from 3 1/2 to 4 1/2, while B. & O., Louisville and Nashville, Reading and New Haven registered extreme gains of 1 to 3 1/2 points. Canadian Pacific retained much of its 4-point rally, but other transcontinentals were irregular.

Sales amounted to $50,000 shares. Live suffered a further collapse to 4 1/2, with no material change for
